

GreenTown Rockford

November 12, 2021

The climate crisis, social equity and economic development are all upon us—addressing these three issues are crucial for our planet and our region. GreenTown is an experience designed to help create healthy, sustainable communities.

Since 2007, GreenTown has connected the dots between public and private sectors. Attendees hear from inspiring speakers, learn from been-there case studies and discuss actionable steps to address climate change, economic development and social equity in our communities.

By focusing on environmental effectiveness, economic development and social equity, GreenTown provides inspiration, fosters aspiration and drives innovation through action plans.

At GreenTown, everyone from mayors to residents, real estate developers to students, gather to learn, network and implement strategies for success. The aim: create a healthy and vibrant Rockford region.

Your sponsorship will be seen by decision makers at municipalities, park districts, hospitals, colleges, universities and elsewhere in the public sector; and among architects, landscape architects, planners, developers, builders, re-modelers and more. This is a terrific opportunity to position your company or organization as a leader in sustainability.

BENEFITS

Help develop a sustainability plan for the region

Increased awareness of your sustainability products and services

Opportunity to connect with key customers and prospects

Opportunity to position your company or organization as a leader in shaping our region's future

*GreenTown Rockford will be held in early November at a venue to be determined. If safety and social guidelines do not allow for an all in-person event, GreenTown will take place as a virtual event or a hybrid in-person and virtual event.

GreenTown Snapshot

The climate crisis is here. Its impact is global AND local. Extreme weather events cause flooding and destruction. Water quality, food production, shoreline erosion and so many more issues adversely impact people and planet.

GreenTown is an experience designed to help create healthy, sustainable communities. Since 2007, GreenTown has connected the dots between the public and private sectors. Attendees hear from inspiring speakers, learn from been-there case studies and discuss actionable steps to address climate change, economic development and social equity in our communities.
